C/CORPS EXPERIENCE

1

C/CORPS BOOTCAMP PROJECT ZERO

An intensive experience designed to build teams and develop confidence in problem-solving by learning by doing. Project Zero is the introduction to the C/Corps program.

Challenge

Project Zero starts with a challenge prompt, intentionally with very little direction, designed to immerse participants in problem-solving. Participants are put on teams of 3 to 5 people to develop a comprehensive solution within a few days.

Feedback

Participants present their solution to the challenge and receive feedback from invested stakeholders. After the feedback session, participants are led through an embodied feedback reflection to integrate their experience holistically.

Design Thinking+

On the final day of the Bootcamp, participants are guided through the design thinking process with a series of interactive C/Corps Reflections and didactic content. Participants overlay the skills they used to develop a solution with the design thinking process, and map new ways of looking at and solving problems, integrating their experience and knowledge.

Next Steps

Once a participant has completed the C/Corps Project Zero, they are prepared to join a C/Corps cohort to begin to work on real-world projects, with guidance from mid and senior level domain experts.
